Designed to offer both durability and control, LOJEL's versatile, compact Cubo case allows you to pack that extra item (read: whole outfit and matching shoes) without crushing the rest of your getaway garms. The ergonomic front compartment features two zip-in pockets and a clip-in panel, creating the perfect space in which to stash your go-to travel essentials. Interiors aside, the swish and agile outer frame revolves seamlessly, making for ease of entrance and exit on your preferred transport. The best part? The textured polycarbonate outer shell comes in seven different shades to suit style-savvy globetrotters - we're matching ours to our Pangaia airport tracksuit - and is engineered to withstand all sorts of extreme temperatures, scuffs and scratches. Win-win.
